MAG

A Note from the Chair

Dear Potential Applicant,

Thank you very much for your interest in becoming part of MAG's governance.

MAG is a very special humanitarian organisation with a long-term commitment to support the millions of women, men, girls, and boys affected by violence, conflict and instability. We don't hear enough from these survivors who often face deadly risks to their lives and livelihoods for decades. Our work to help to make their lives safer involves clearing landmines and other explosives; weapons and ammunition management; risk awareness education; and advocating and influencing.

At the midpoint of 2022, MAG is currently delivering in more countries, with more people than ever before. In the first six months of 2022 our programme global outputs include: delivering more than 12,500 risk education sessions to more than 124,000 people; destroying more than 150,000 small arms and releasing more than 35 million square metres of land.

MAG is a very effective practical organisation, yet its impact goes way beyond technical achievements, setting communities free to develop socially and economically. Survivors I have met talk about their joy and relief from fear when their communities are made safe, when children can play freely outside for the first time or go to school again without risk and when parents can develop their land, transport goods or generate opportunities that will build their future.

Across MAG, in the 32 countries where we work, national staff – who make up the great majority of MAG – will proudly tell you that they undertake this potentially risky work because they want to do something vital for their community and their families. The exceptional commitment of our staff and partners is inspiring. The determination that all MAG staff share across the MAG family is something our trustees cherish.

Communities around the world deserve so much better than to continue to live in fear of violence, conflict and instability. I am deeply proud of what MAG achieves. The whole Board wants to support MAG's work with communities and partners so that MAG achieves the greatest possible impact. Matters that arise can be challenging, exciting and fulfilling in equal measure.

Each of our trustees is highly engaged and brings something special to the collective and collegiate work of the Board and Leadership Team.

If you think you might be able to add insight, diversity and experience, if your interest is sparked as you read the pack, or if you have any questions, please get in touch.

With best wishes,

Julia Palca

Who We Are

The Mines Advisory Group (MAG) is a global humanitarian organisation that changes and saves lives every single day. We have been operating for 33 years, delivering transformational change for some of the most vulnerable people in the world and in some of the most fragile places in the world.

We find and destroy landmines, cluster munitions and unexploded bombs in places affected by conflict. Since 1989, we have helped over 20 million people in some 70 countries rebuild their lives and livelihoods after war.

But still, every day, about 19 people are killed or injured by landmines and unexploded bombs somewhere in the world.

Tragically, over half of the civilian casualties are children.

Landmines and unexploded bombs don't just threaten lives. They also blight communities by hampering normal life. They prevent people from travelling safely to school, to the market, to health centres and to water sources.

Landmines mean impoverished communities that are recovering from conflict cannot access their land to grow crops and generate income.

Landmines deny already traumatised people who have been displaced by war the chance to return home safely.

Our staff and the communities where they work and from which they come are at the heart of everything we do.

We are determined to deliver a safe future for the women, men and children affected by violence, conflict, and insecurity.

We believe in a world where people can exist with dignity and choice, where their human rights are upheld and where they can live free from the fear from landmines, explosive remnants of war and the impact of small arms and light weapons and ammunition.

We believe this is a world worth fighting for.

Our Strategic Plan

The year 2021 represented the first full year of delivery of MAG's revised Strategic Direction which reduced our Aims from five to four. MAG's current Strategic Direction runs to the end of 2023 and work is underway to develop its successor.

Our 2020 mid-term review has resulted in a more clearly defined set of four strategic aims which focus on: what we do; our cross-cutting priorities; external engagement; and organisational effectiveness. These strategic aims represent inter-dependent building blocks of the overall MAG strategy and reflect our over-arching aspirations. Delivering on these Aims will enable us to fulfil our vision, mission, and ambition:

MAG's vision is a safe future for women, men and children affected by violence, conflict, and insecurity. People will live in communities where their rights are upheld, with dignity and choice and free from fear from mines, explosive remnants of war (ERW) and the impact of small arms and light weapons and ammunition.

MAG's mission is to save lives and build safer futures. We will use our core skills and distinctive competence to save lives through the removal of mines and ERW, and reduce the impact of small arms, light weapons and ammunition on people and communities. How we do this is as important as what we do – we work primarily with and for communities, for us 'it's all about people'.

MAG's ambition is to have the maximum positive impact on the maximum number of people by delivering the highest quality programmes and being the most influential mine action organisation. We will grow the scale of our own operations responsibly and sustainably and we will transform the impact of what we do by linking our work to that of others in related fields and influencing key decision-makers. We will be able to assess and measure the impact we are having.

1. MAG will deliver a global programme of action to reduce the impacts of Explosive Ordnance and Small Arms, Light Weapons and Ammunition.

2. MAG will be sensitive, responsive, and inclusive in the ways we work with each other, our partners, and the communities we support.

3. MAG will maximise the reach and impact of its work through external engagement and partnership.

4. We will be a well-managed, accountable, and sustainable organisation.

Our Diversity Goals

MAG's mission is driven by its staff, donors and the communities we work with around the world.

They have shaped MAG to be a global charity, made up of men and women from a huge variety of nationalities, ethnicities, experiences and faiths (and none); and socio-economic backgrounds, as well as people who bring their very individual and unique experiences.

The MAG Board believes reflecting this diversity in our leadership is an essential underpinning of strong governance and responsible decision making.

Therefore, in selecting Trustees, our aspiration is to meet the needs of MAG as a complex, global charity and ensure the individuals who make up MAG's Board collectively provide the diversity of skills, experience and backgrounds to reflect MAG, its work and its values.

We will continue to work on being more representative and inclusive whilst still ensuring we collectively provide the leadership and skills MAG needs to fulfil its mission and safeguard our communities.

We remain determined to better represent MAG as a global, diverse organisation on our Board.

We want to balance gender, age, disability, geography, experience, alongside very critical and specific skills expectations and people who bring diversity of thought and approach.

The MAG Board is currently focused on collectively achieving:

- a 50/50 balance of women and men;
- as far as our British-based Trustees, to be more representative of the ethnic and racial diversity of the UK where we are registered;
- having at least one (but preferably more) Trustees who have lived experience of the communities in which we are working; and
- reflecting the voices and experiences of different generations.
